LONDON: Beware, Scarboro! Do not be hasty in your aggression, or we will let John Smythe loose upon you.

Remember; Harley, you were one of us once!

Hey, Derek, how cum the Yanks are playing England?

SCARBOROUGH: Weak American Beer will never stand up against Red Cap!!

MOSCOW: (Official Press Release) The Russian Government wishes to announce the deep regret at the lack of correspondence which she has been guilty of. Unfortunately internal problems have kept her government officials very busy the past few weeks. It is hoped that no nations will take offense at this.

Noting the build-up of German Military strength Russia has been forced to take certain precautionary moves to prevent a threat of invasion on her western borders. It is hoped that the German government will see that this is not to be construed as an attack, but only as a defensive move.

DEADLINE FOR FALL 1901 MOVES is MONDAY, 2 OCTOBER, 1967

The Boardman Corner: (His allies)

"A Chinese radio comedian, Lam Buu, a star of Hong Kong's Commercial Network, known for his anti-Communist jokes, was doused and set afire by terrorists today after they threw a bomb into his car" (AP August/67)

"Israel is and always has been the tool and foothold for American and British exploitation in the Middle East and Africa" (Ralph Featherstone, SNCC program dir.)

DEADLINE FOR FALL 1901 MOVES is MONDAY, October 2, 1967

Constantinople: The Sultan and the Peoples of Islam wish only to be left out of the brewing conflict that is the result of old age arguments. Turkey has no interest in the affairs of Europe. She only wishes to be left alone to recreate her empire of the 1400's. Peace be with Europe!

St. Petersburg: Russia declares "war" on the government of Turkey.
"We expect an early overthrow of the government if Turkey does not expand quickly"!

Lowerupperdown (capital of Sideways): Neutral observers here observe (would you believe?) that the governments of Austria, Russia and Turkey appear to be making even less sense than usual. Said observers are therefore giving four to one on France (or was it Spain?)

The editors of this magazine wish to present their deepest and profoundest apologies (or reasonable facisimile thereof) for this issue being a week late. We have excuses. There appears to have been some confusion about the deadline (or maybe it was the post office). Not only that, Lake's car blew up and Nelson's liscence expired (when the Idiot Government failed to mail it in time), which made matters impossible in regards to transportation. Then Nelson disappeared for a week at the Conservative National Leadership convention and is only now starting to sober up as he types this.

See--we did have excuses.

EDITORIAL

The ARMA staff considers Boardman's actions in 1964C both immoral and the setting of a bad example. Charles Reinsel and others think of it in similar terms.

I cannot concur. Boardman, although a dedicated emotional materialist, is a moralist of the highest order--every sentence he writes reeks of moral judgment.

I once categorized Diplomacy players as being of two types--legalists and realists. As in the use of the terms "hawk" and "dove" this is a vast over-simplification, and most people probably rate as "dawks" and "legreals".

Not so Boardman. He is a stereotype, "either-or", "good guys-bad-guys" moralist type of thinker. His ultra-unorthodox politics and ultra-orthodox science and game rules decisions should make this obvious.

In BROB there was no rule against deceiving the gamesmaster, so Boardman cannot be hit on a charge of going against the orthodox rules--and this would be the only way to get to Boardman.

It is, admittedly, in bad taste to cheat--but not illegal or immoral.

As a player in 1964C I don't feel anger at Boardman's win (I was dead no matter who played Turkey) but I think Jim Goldman deserves consideration when any solution is advanced.

With that in mind I suggest the following:

- 1) Since ratings systems are here to stay regardless of the opposition a few of us express to them, either Goldman should be credited with a victory and Boardman declared annihilated OR the game should be washed from the records completely.
 - 2) We all sit back and have a horselaugh over the interesting disclosure that he only "conservative" to fit Boardman's stereotype was a figment of his wild imagination.
 - 3) we otherwise forget the matter.

ADDENDA TO RULES

- 1) Any country that falls into civil disorder and must remove a unit will have that force which is of least importance to that country's defense removed (in the opinion of the editors) rather than the unit furthest from the homeland.

KIM'S KORNER (ie; letter column)

John Koning: If I join your Board of Experts, will that make me a Board-man? ((No. A madman . . .))

John Boardman: And the Berlin Wall? If I were running a home for alcoholics, and someone set up a bar next door, I'd build a wall too. ((I quite agree. When you're trying to run a slave state it is bad to have a free society so close at hand, isn't it?))

The editors would appreciate comments from all and sundry who have visited the EXPO site. They will be printed next issue along with a few more subjective impressions by the editors of a few more Montreal-type things not connected with the pavillions.

This issue of J.J., the magazine of bubling incoherency, is dedicated to Kimberley Alison Lake, born at home on July 14, 1967. My wife and daughter came through it all just fine; its just me that I'm still worrying about.
